eChalk Release 38.0.0.0   Date: 02.24.18

New Features:

Site Landmarks – ARIA Regions

Site landmarks have added to allow a better experience for users that access the site with assistive technologies such as screen readers. This allows for a much better experience navigating pages of your site for users that need to navigate via keyboard or through an assistive screen reader. The following anchors are currently implemented:

- banner - used for site header content
- navigation - used for site navigation area
- main content - used for main area with all page content blocks
- any user generated content block is identified as a separate region and utilizes the Block Title as the title for the region. You must use block titles if you wish to navigate via region. If you do not include this title, the content area will be marked as User Generated Content to allow the end user to know that it is not part of the site template.
- content info - used for the site footer content

Bug Fixes

Skip to Main Content

The accessibility feature to skip to main content was not functioning properly in some themes based on the type of content that was displayed on the page. This has been corrected so that it will always function properly and skip to the appropriate area.
