

Enhancements

Site Alerts

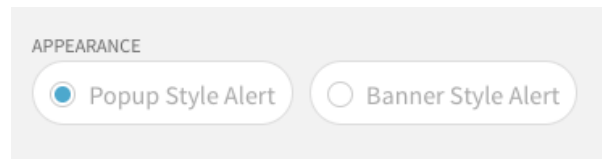

Site Alerts have been updated to allow either Banner Style alerts and now new Pop-Up Style alerts. These new alerts will pop up when a user visits your website. It will be the first thing that they see and puts very important information right in front of them immediately.

We also introduced the Active Alerts indicator. This icon will display on the lower right corner of your website if there are any currently published alerts that have been dismissed (if someone closes the popup or banner alert). Clicking on the icon will bring the alerts back so the user can see them.

All newly created alerts will use the Pop-Up Style by default. You can select which style you prefer when creating or updating an alert.

Fixes

Accessibility Fixes

We made several minor accessibility corrections to remove any text that is too small, redundant title text and links that had improper styling.
